

Just the fact that Sinclair Communications blocked the broadcast of Nightline, and the plans to force its stations to air propoganda about Kerry just days before the election, is an inherent misuse of public airwaves.